Concord R 2

Concord, Route 2, June 7.- Well, school is out again. Farmers are really glad to have the boys home to help with the farm work.

Glad to report Mr. R. W. Tweedy is slowly improving. A number of his children visited him and Mrs. Tweedy Sunday, including Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Tweedy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tweedy and family, from Charleston, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tweedy, from Madison Heights; Mrs. Bertha Williams and Mrs. Eunice Williams, of Lynchburg; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lee and family, of Galts Mill, and Mrs. Virginia Tweedy Nelson, of Lynchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks Jennings left Tuesday for Richmond to attend the graduation exercises of Medical College of Virginia that night, when Miss Eileen Thorpe will receive her degree in medicine, and to attend the marriage of their son, Thomas, a medical student, and Miss Thorpe on Wednesday morning. They will also attend the wedding breakfast.

Mrs. Florence Carson, of Steelton, Penn., is the house guest of Mrs. C. M. Stratton and Mrs. E. H Carson.

Friends of the Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Jennings, Jr., of Drewryville will be interested to know their daughter, Miss Ann Jennings, graduated from Mars Hill College, in North Carolina last week. Mr. and Mrs. Jennings were accompanied by Mrs. Nannie Lou Southerland, of Richmond and Mrs. H. B. Jennings, Sr., of Florida, to attend the graduating exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tipton, of Washington spent a part of last week with Mrs. Tipton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kern Mays. Mr. Mays had the misfortune to hurt his foot at the sawmill recently. Glad to report he is well enough to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Thomas celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Tuesday evening with a host of friends and relatives present. They received many lovely silver gifts.

There will be a prayer meeting at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. G. E. Hughes tonight, Wed., at 8 P. M. Vacation Bible School starts at Hebron June 12.

Retired Chemist Solves Too-Many-Hamsters Problem

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —M. J. Stuart, retired chemist, and his son, Frank are experiencing a great relief now that all of their 300 hamsters are gone. They finally passed out the last of the animals to persons who drove from many sections of the state to get them.

Stuart said he had the 300 hamsters on his hands and didn't know what to do with them. They had been given him by a friend who had to leave town. They have been used in laboratory work and the friend had nothing else to do with them.

It was the hamsters' fabulous ability to multiply that had the Stuarts worried. Frank figured out that, in theory, at least, the 300 could increase to 11 million in a year.

To complicate things, there's a law against freeing the animals because of possible crop damage.

Father and son appealed for help —make fine pets for the kids, they said—free.

The pet seekers descended on them today. Some came out of curiosity—and went home with a pair of the small furry animals. Others took singles and some got away with a dozen or more.

"Very likely," reported the Stuarts, "some of the folks will turn up with more than they can handle shortly—but they're off our hands now."
